To Whom It May Concern:

This is a letter of recommendation for Dr. Cathy Denison. Dr. Denison taught management and marketing at Louisiana State University at Alexandria (LSUA) from August 2010 until May 2012 in the Department of Business Administration. During this time, she received excellent evaluations from both her students and her department chair.

In addition, Dr. Denison sponsored LSUA's Phi Beta Lambda (PBL) Chapter. The Chapter increased membership and diversity of activities under her two years of leadership. Both years, the Chapter received the Gold Star Chapter Award and had students qualify for national competitions. This past year, the PBL president won the Louisiana PBL Who's Who Award, and Dr. Denison was named as Louisiana PBL Outstanding Advisor.

Dr. Denison was active both on campus and in the community. On campus her activities included chairing the Bolton Teaching Award Committee which names our most outstanding faculty member annually, advising students, serving as secretary for the Improvement of Instruction Committee, and participating in the Honors Convocation. In the community, she developed student projects for local businesses, belonged to the LA Society of Human Resources Management (CLSHRM), and participated in various events such as the Alexandria Museum of Arts' Dragon Boat Races and the LSUA Scholarship Gala.

As you can see, Dr. Denison was a very active faculty member with a bright future at LSUA. We were sorry to see her leave and know that she will be an asset to the next institution that hires her.

Sincerely,
